CALL TO ORDER

The meeting of the County Council of Cecil County of January 17, 2023, was called to order by Council President Gregory at 7:00 p.m.

OPENING PRAYER

Councilman Miller introduced Reverend Charles Rossiter from Baldwin United Methodist Church in Elkton who led the opening prayer.

APPROVAL OF AGENDA

On motion made by Councilwoman Culberson, seconded by Vice President Meffley, the Council moved to approve the legislative agenda of January 17, 2023. Motion was approved unanimously.

STATE OF THE COUNCIL ADDRESS

President Jackie Gregory gave the State of the Council address. She noted healthy discussion and debate lead to common ground and progress and is pleased to have the opportunity to work with her colleagues to find solutions to the challenges we face together. She noted Vice President Meffley's experience as a business owner and advocate of the trades, represents Council on the Maryland Rural Development cooperative, serves as treasurer for the Upper Shore Regional Council and as a board member of the Cecil County Trade Foundation for the School of Technology. She welcomed Councilwoman Hamilton, who has experience in business management and operations for the building materials industry. Councilwoman Hamilton represents council on both the Planning Commission and the Parks and Recreation Board. She noted Councilman Miller's deep and historical connection to farmers, rural industries and the County Fair. She also noted Councilman Miller serves as the representative to the Cecil County Farm Bureau and the Cecil County Fireman's Association. She noted Councilwoman Culberson has experience in healthcare, budgeting, and elder care and she represents Council on the Commission on Aging and the Social Services Board. President Gregory noted her background in education and legislative matters and she represents Council at the Maryland Association of Counties, the Maryland Rural Counties Coalition, and the Early Childhood Advisory Council.

President Gregory noted Council's primary role is legislative but works closely with the administration on the budget and unanimously supported issues including funding and securing our schools, providing resources to law enforcement, corrections, and emergency management teams, approving competitive wage increases to government employees and funding a responsible capital improvement program. She also noted Council met with groups on community wellness, primary and secondary education, transportation initiatives, the Chesapeake Bay and local tributaries, infrastructure initiatives, economic development programs and projects, public utilities, the opioid epidemic, and the current state of command for our largest employer Aberdeen Proving Ground.

President Gregory noted the success of Elkton High School's varsity soft ball team, Cecil County's teacher of the year Nadeline Fleischer-Pile, the Calvert 4-Hers, and the heroic lifesaving actions of Corporal Annette Goodyear, Cpl. Jonathan Pruett, and citizen George Gregson.

President Gregory noted highlights for the past year including approval of executive appointments for boards and commissions, legislation to help volunteer fire services recoup additional funds, establishment of the Police Accountability Board, property tax relief for law enforcement officers, business growth with expanded sewer infrastructure and incentives to Northrup Grumman that creates high paying jobs. Looking forward, she noted we have the opening of Great Wolf Lodge, the Maryland 5 Star at Fair Hill, dredging projects on the North East River and challenges on implementation of the Blueprint for Education, legalization of cannabis, and police accountability.

STATE OF THE COUNTY ADDRESS

County Executive Danielle Hornberger gave the State of the County address. She noted her promise to support our citizens needs while exercising fiscal responsibility, ensuring a safe community, expanding quality of life initiatives that strengthen our residents, ties to Cecil County and expanding economic opportunities and is happy to report that the state of our county is incredibly strong, and our opportunities for success limitless. She announced that, due to cost cutting efficiencies and a conservative approach to spending the county audit report will show more than 44 million dollars in surplus. She thanked the county volunteers who give their time and energy to Cecil County's local boards and commissions, and acknowledged the department directors.

Executive Hornberger noted Cecil County School of Technology, fire science student, Christopher McCann, who represented our county in the national skills competition and finished as the gold medalist, North East Police Corporal Annette Goodyear who put herself in harms way to prevent a student from being struck by a car and Devon and Julie Price of Elkton, who donated a 79 foot Norway spruce to Rockefeller Center.

Executive Hornberger noted the low tax rate and sound economy as we continue to be highly attractive to the private sector. She noted the opening of Northrup Grumman's hypersonic center of excellence which will add more than 200 high-tech jobs in the aerospace field. She also noted Great Wolf Lodge would be opening its largest resort this year as well as projects at Bainbridge.

Executive Hornberger recognized the support for our municipalities and all the events they host. She noted the value of tourism, regional sporting events, our parks and rivers and community events. She noted the success of our ag industry, ag tourism, equestrian heritage and the Maryland

5 Star Event. She thanked Jeff Newman and his team for this event. She also noted our commitment to the Chesapeake Bay and the Clean Water Act.

Executive Hornberger highlighted the budget and the 44 million dollar surplus. She noted that she will continue to keep spending in check and our credit rating high. She noted that property tax rates were cut twice and reduced the income tax rate to the fifth lowest in Maryland. She also noted the expansion to our tax program for seniors and military tax that include sworn officers.

Executive Hornberger thanked Sheriff Scott Adams on his efforts and working with the administration on raises and bonuses for officers and working on increases for dispatchers. She also acknowledged State's Attorney James Dellmyer and his effort to help fight crime.

Executive Hornberger noted the capital budget provided for roads, broadband, two additional turf fields for the high schools, designing the Public Safety Training Facility, Cecil College investments and the new North East Middle and High School. She also thanked Dr. Jeff Lawson on providing additional safe school entrances. She noted our quick turnaround on projects and permits as well as the preservation of 440 acres of farmland and restrictions on solar farms. Finally, she noted the I-95 Belvidere Road project is underway.

Executive Hornberger noted accomplishments in Community Services including wellness communities, pet adoption services, Cecil Cares Day, grants from the video lottery and providing broadband to 99% of the County. She also noted the Emergency Management accomplishments including 15,000 EMS incidents and 120,000 dispatch calls and emergency planning. She noted this would not be possible without our volunteer fire departments.

Executive Hornberger noted our surplus and our refinancing of bonds to 2% interest. She noted going forward she will continue to be fiscally responsible and focused on providing services.
